B., Stott A. 44010 GLB O Company of EXTENTICS AND WILD animal meat is susceptible to being a cause for growing concern, along with industrial production systems in large scale, where conditions can be highly appropriate to allow the transmission of disease between animals and to large distances (OTTE et al. For mixed small systems In developing paraes, there may be places where they intensify using the inputs and tools of the high -4 systems in the developed world. Food Search livestock products will nearly double in sub-Saharan Africa and South Asia, from some 200 kcal per person per day in 2000 to around 400 kcal per person per day in 2050. Livestock provide traction mainly in irrigated, densely populated areas, and allow cropping in these places. A difficulty in assessing the changing disease status in much of the developing world is the lack of data, a critical area where progress needs to be made if disease diagnostics, monitoring and impact assessment are to be made effective and sustainable.
